

Slap To The Head

Clip 3

In this clip the attacker in red is being held on the six and is frustrated and then retaliates by using the back of his hand to slap the player in black. Before the retaliation happened this would've been a good moment for the referee to stop the game assuming this is on a corner kick which we can't exactly tell from the clip and go talk to both players about the physical contact in front of the net. By doing so and slowing the game down this could've possibly prevented a situation from happening like we see here. The final decision should be an ejection to the red player for Violent Behavior.
